MANN PLEADING HARD

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

SUFFOLK, VA., August 3.—Judge Mann to-night in the Academy of Music, pleaded hard for the temperance vote of Suffolk, which is a dry town. "The temperance people of Virginia, owe me their support," he declared. "For I sm their acknowledged leader, and my defeat would be their defeat," Judge Mann asserted that he had rather have had part in the passage of the Mann bill than to be Governor of Virginia, or President of the United Committee, to-night announced that of the Mann bill than to be Governor of Virginia, or President of the United States. He claimed that instead of carrying forty-two counties, as the newspaper poll has shown, he hopes to carry seventy, and to carry thirteen cities, instead of eight, as the poll showed. Mann defended the "ring," and denied he had bargained with the liquor people for support.

Judge Mann said that he had not resided in Petersburg for many years except when the Legislature was in session.

HARD BATTLE IN FIFTH DISTRICT

Both Tucker and Mann Leaders Are Claiming It for Their Candidate.

TUCKER STRENGTH GROWS

Republicans Believe Their Chances Will Be Bettered by Mann's Success.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
DANVILLE, VA., August 3.—The Fifth Congressional District will probably go for Judge Mann in the gubernatorial primary by a small majority.
Claims are being made by the Tucker forces that the district will go for their candidate, especially strong being their claim for Pittsylvania (Governor Swanson's home) county. Tucker's strength in the city of Danville has probably been underestimated. It is not probable, however, that he can carry the district, which is ridden by the machine forces. It is more probable that in the event of the election of Judge Mann the Republicans will make a strong fight to carry the district in the fall election. It will be remembered that in the last congressional election there was a very close remembered that in the last congressional election there was a very close fight, Judge Saunders winning by a bare majority. The fight was so close, in fact, that the Republican candidate indulged himself in a contest. The tear of the Republicans is still a menace in Patrick and Henry counties. The Republicans unquestionably believe that their changes will be itsent heard by publicans unquestionably believe that their chances will be strongthened by the nomination of Judge Mann.

Many Democrats are taking of voting for the Republican nominee in the event of the nomination of Judge Mann. Many leading prohibitionists are also disturbed by the leadership of Judge Mann, and are looking towards Kent, the Republican nominee. Tucker is making great headway in Pittsylvania county. Carroll and Grayson are uncertain, but are claimed by Mann. The vote in the Fifth is not likely to be spirited among the Democrats unless a raily is brought is not likely to be spirited among the Democrats unless a rally is brought about. The Republicans know this, and the danger sign is out from the Mann forces. The Mahone letters have injured Mann in Danville. The backing of the machine has hurt him among those same leaders who backed Montague against Swanson when those two ran for Governor at the time that Montague defeated Swanson and the machine. All of this shows a nervous vote that is likely to turn toward Tucker.

Mann money is not moving with great vim among political betters.
